Nervous Prostration
Complete Recovery by the Use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. HINSON, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

AT A TENEMENT WINDOW.

Sometimes my needle stops with half drawn thread.
(Not often, though. Each moment's waste means bread,
And missing stitches leave the little mouths unfed.)
I look down on the dingy court below.
A tuft of grass is all it has to show,
A broken pump where thirsty children go.
Above there shines a bit of sky so small
That it might be a passing bluebird's wing.
One tree leans up against the high brick wall,
And there the sparrows twitter of the spring
Until they waken in my heart a cry
Of hunger that no bread can satisfy.

Always before when May time took her way
Across the fields I followed close. Today
I can but dream of all her bright array.
My work drops down. Across the sill I lean
And long with bitter longing for unseen
Rain freshened paths where budding woods grow green.
The water trickles from the pump below
Upon the stones. With eyes half shut I hear
It falling in a pool where rushes grow
And feel a cooling presence drawing near.
And now the sparrows chirp again. No, hark!
A singing as of some far meadow lark.

It is the same old miracle applied
Unto myself, that on the mountain side
The few small leaves and fishes multiplied.
Behold how strange and sweet the mystery!
The birds, the broken pump, the gnarled tree
Have brought the fullness of the spring to me.
For in the leaves that rustle by the wall
All forests find a tongue. And so that grass
Can with its struggling tuft of green recall
Wide bloom filled meadows where the cattle pass.
How it can be but dimly I divine.
These crumbs, God given, make the whole loaf mine.
—Annie F. Johnston in Youth's Companion.

HER ALARM CLOCK.

And Why She Had Good Reason For Being Incensed Against It.

A suburban woman not long since purchased an alarm clock. It was a fat nickel plated little affair with the customary gong atop. The woman got the clock because she felt an overwhelming desire to play the role of the early bird. That night, therefore, she set the timepiece according to the specified directions. But for some reason or other the clock failed to go off. The woman gave it a second trial. Again it played her false. She took it to the suburban jeweler. He said the clock was outrageously out of order, hinted darkly at the dishonesty of any individual who would palm off such an article as perfect goods and prescribed a course of treatment which he would be gracious enough to administer for the sum of 75 cents. The clock's original cost had been $1.50.

The night that it came back from the suburban jeweler the woman wound it up with a feeling of unassailable security. This time the role of the early bird would be hers for certain. The next morning, however, it failed to go off, just as before. The woman took it back to the suburban jeweler, who received it with an "I told you that clock was terribly out of order." Encore, 75 cents.

Time passed, the clock, like the cat in the canticle, "came back," and the woman woke up (some hours later than she had intended) only to find that it hadn't "gone off" again. She now took the troublesome timepiece to the city jeweler from whom she had first purchased it. He declared the clock to have been all right until "ruined" by the suburban jeweler, but consented to repair it—also to charge $1 for so doing. The woman then bore it home in triumph.

Next morning, though, the same old drama was enacted, and the woman was once more unable to assume the role of the early bird. Had she been a man she might have sworn. As it was, she confided her woes to the breakfast tableful. "Why, that clock's been going off all the time," observed the woman who occupied the neighboring room to the clock owner. "It's waked me up every morning regularly. The trouble is it hasn't waked you."

Whereupon the woman felt more incensed against the clock than ever. To think of its having so little discrimination and discretion as to wake up the wrong person!—New York Sun.

Queer Facts About Air.

The celebrated chemist of the sixteenth century who argued that it would be impossible for us to live on the earth's surface if the atmosphere should suddenly increase to twice its present thickness could not have been far wrong, after all—that is, if the experiments of Dr. Arnott are to be taken as conclusive. In his observations on atmospheric pressure at the bottoms of the deep mining shafts of Europe, Professor Arnott has found that the change between the readings of a barometer at the bottom of a 4,000 foot shaft and one at the surface is great enough to warrant him in making the statement that air at the bottom of a shaft 20 miles deep would be as dense as water. Figuring on the same ratio, he finds that if a hole could be sunk 40 miles into the bowels of the earth the density of the air at the bottom would be as great as that of quicksilver.—St. Louis Republic.

Women on the Bicycle.

What a pretty thing a woman on a bicycle is! Her pose is good. She sits erect and rides easily, gracefully. Most men stoop while riding. Women sit erect. Men always seem to be on business bent and in a hurry. Women appear to ride for pleasure and in no hurry. Men have the bicycle face, arising, it is said, from the care they have to bestow to avoid accident. Women have the air of easy indifference, unconsciousness of risk. They ride as the true goddess walked.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

The world of reality has its limits. The world of imagination is boundless. Not being able to enlarge the one, let us contract the other, for it is from their difference that all the evils arise which render us unhappy.—Rousseau.

In Holland and Belgium to kill a stork is considered one of the greatest misfortunes that can happen to a man. Ill luck is certain to follow him through life.

A knife that has been used for cutting onions should at once be plunged two or three times into the earth to free it from the unpleasant smell.

MIMICRY AND REASON.

Indication That This Monkey Is Endowed With a Share of Each.

"That the monkey possesses intelligence to a considerable degree is probably true," said a hotel proprietor who has a small menagerie on his premises. "I believe, however, much of the intelligence with which that animal is credited is due to his love of mimicry.

"The other day two young men with two girls were at the monkey's cage feeding him peanuts. One of the girls was chewing gum, and one of the men suggested that she give the monkey some, expecting that if he took it in his mouth it would stick to his teeth, and he would make sorry work of trying to chew it. The girl at once parted with the sweet morsel she was so industriously chewing, extending it toward the cage. The monkey grabbed it instantly and put it into his mouth, but instead of chewing it, or attempting to, began pulling it out in small ribbons, as children are frequently seen to do. When he had it all out of his mouth, he rolled it into a compact ball between his hands, threw it into his mouth and began the operation again. He appeared to enjoy the performance as much as his visitors. That was imitation."

"That's all right," rejoined another, "but I had an experience with that same monkey wherein he displayed intelligence. I was by the cage smoking one day, and I thought to annoy him by blowing smoke in his face. I was much surprised to find that, instead of being annoyed, he enjoyed it, as was evidenced by his edging up as near me as possible to receive the smoke in larger volumes. Soon he began scratching himself at the point where most of the smoke came against him. When I had smoked one side for a few minutes, he would turn squarely round to have the other side treated in the same way. Then he sat up directly in front of me and received the smoke squarely in the face and neck. I don't know whether he held his breath, but he did not cough, sneeze or wince a particle. To complete the job he then sat with his back toward me, and it would have done you good to have seen him throw his hind feet over his back and scratch. It made me think of the kickers of a hay tedder in motion. Now that monkey knew, through some sort of intelligence, that nothing will send fleas and other insects to the surface or stupefy them as effectively as tobacco smoke."—Utica Observer.

COLLEGE GIRLS AND MARRIAGE.

Bits of Confession That Throw a Light on the Question.

I have no doubt that the remaining cause of the low marriage rate is that many men dislike intellectual women—whether because such women are really disagreeable or because men's taste is at fault I shall not try to determine. And even among those who like them as friends many feel as the young man did who made this confession:

"I never expected to marry the sort of girl I did. You know I always believed in intellectual equality and all that and had good friendships with the college girls. But, you see, you girls hadn't any illusions about us. After you had seen us hanging at the board on problems you could work and had taken the same degrees yourselves, you couldn't imagine us wonders just because we had gone through college, and when I met a dear little girl that thought I knew everything—why, it just keeled me right over. It was a feeling I had no idea of."

And the college woman answered:

"I will betray something to you. Lots of us are just as unreformed as you. We want just as much to look up to our husbands as you want to be looked up to. Only of course the more we know the harder it is to find somebody to meet the want. Probably the equal marriage is really the ideal one, and everybody will come to prefer it some day. But personally I like men to be superior to me. Only I'll tell you what I don't like in them—the wish to keep ahead of us by holding us back, like spoiled children that want to be given the game and then admired for their skill. If men would encourage us to do our very best, and then do still better themselves, it ought to be good for civilization."—"The Marriage Rate of College Women," by Milicent W. Shinn, in Century.

No Precedent.

During a session of the territorial legislature of Montana, held more than 30 years ago, a measure was introduced which appeared to some people to involve serious constitutional questions. One man, who was supposed to possess great oratorical powers, declaimed fiercely against the measure, claiming that it was "clearly in opposition to the great principles of Magna Charta, which the brave barons in days of old had wrested from King John, a blessed result of a bloody conflict."

A lawyer, more famed for his sturdy common sense than for erudition, rose immediately to reply to this burst of fiery eloquence, evidently bent on making it clear that he for one was not to be overcome by high sounding words or obscure allusions.

"It's of mighty little importance what the opinions of King John and his man McCarthy were," he announced firmly, adding that it was high time for legislative bodies of Montana to think and act for themselves without any reference to the principles which governed the remote authorities quoted by his colleague.

The first orator's speech had made some impression, but the retort was received with the enthusiasm which it deserved, and it was owing to his influence rather than that of his more brilliant predecessor that the measure was defeated.—Youth's Companion.

Origin of Massage.

Dr. Forestier of Aix-les-Bains has an interesting paper in Le Progres Medical on "The Origin and Terminology of Massage." The physician of l'Hospice Evangelique is of opinion that the method of treatment now known as massage was first introduced into Europe by some of the returning members of Bonaparte's Egyptian expedition of 1799, and relies for his information upon a book entlitled "Des Eaux Thermales d'Aix en Savoie," published at Chambery in 1808.

Dr. Daquin, the author of the work in question, after a passage apropos of the douche, speaks of the manipulations and frictions which were observed by Captain Wallis among the aborigines of Otaheite, and then proceeds as follows: "Those who followed the Emperor Napoleon in Egypt inform us that this method was also in existence among the people of that country, and that it was employed after the bath. The name of massement has been given to it, and it is administered to the person whom they want to masser by rubbing successively the entire surface of his body.

"According to this account I think that this operation, which strikes me as a very salutary procedure, might with great advantage be put in practice after their bath or douche upon those who make use of our thermal waters."—London Lancet.

Curiosities of the Sewing Needle.

Sewing needles of bone, stone, glass and bronze antedate all historic records, but those of iron, brass and steel are comparatively modern. Bone and glass needles have been found in Egyptian tombs that are known to be over 4,000 years old, and similar domestic instruments of bronze and copper have been found in the mounds and burial caves of Europe and America which are believed to be much older than those found with the Nile mummies. The needle first appeared in its present form in European countries in the year 1410, but the art of making them was kept a secret for upward of 150 years after the date last given. In the year 1680 they were first made in the American colonies, but at what point is a mooted question among the historians.

At present there are no needle factories in America, except those which make sewing machine needles, it being considered much cheaper and more economical to import them from the great Redditch and other English needle factories than to make them at home. Our great National Needle company at Springfield, Mass., makes about 30,000,000 machine needles every year, and the great Redditch (English) company makes three times that many, or 90,000,000, of the hand variety annually.—St. Louis Republic.

Cost of French Opera Boxes.

When the old Marquis de Casa Riera, who had for many years the great Entre Colonnes box on the right side—for which he paid, if I remember rightly, £1,200 a year, and which, though he was blind, he filled every night with pretty women—died some 15 years ago, there was a hot flutter of excitement in the Paris of the opera as to what would become of the succession to the box.

After a palpitating struggle of influences, efforts and diplomacy, equal in emotion to the contest between Ulysses and the Telamonian Ajax for the armor of Achilles, the nephew and heir of the old marquis managed to keep the box for one night a week—he could not obtain more—and it was won for each of the other nights by persons of the highest place, who had been longing for it impatiently for years. An ordinary box for one night a week costs from £240 to £320 a year, according to its size and situation. The combat for boxes is unceasing. It is one of the features of the rich life of Paris, and to those who know the people and the circumstances the combat is diverting to watch.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Monday Is Washday.

I don't see why it isn't just as well to hang out the family wash on Wednesday as upon Monday. Yet I have known women who wouldn't have a flat unless they could wash on Monday. As five floors of two families each can't dry in the back yard and on the roof on the same day, and the Monday prejudice is very strong, landlords have had to erect huge telegraph poles in the rear of flat houses, from which pole lines are operated on a level of each floor. This system also affords the additional pleasure of a near view of the number and character of your neighbors' family wash. There must be some substantial reason for a woman doing just as her neighbors do and what all women in the civilized world do and have been doing for hundreds of years.—New York Herald.

The Luxurious Romans.

The Romans had no flower shows. There were "bread and circuses," but not bread and flowers. The luxurious Roman used roses in enormous quantities at his banquets. It was a fine joke to have roses fall from above on guests, reclining at their tables, and the flowers in such quantities as to smother them. A writer in The Quarterly recalls a picture of Alma Tadema's "The Rose Feast of Elagabalus," which shows the superabundance of roses. To spend on a banquet in roses 4,000,000 sesterces, equivalent to about $160,000, is recorded by Suetonius, but possibly Suetonius exaggerates.

Must Be So.

"What do you think of this previous existence theory?"

"I know it to be supported by facts. For instance, I know a woman only 27 years old who often thoughtlessly tells about things that happened 35 years ago."—Indianapolis Journal.

DO THEY HOLD TWO YEARS OR FOUR?

THE question as to whether there will be an election for county officers next Fall is again being discussed by lawyers and the newspapers. The prevailing opinion is that the officials elected last year were elected for two and not for four years. One thing is certain the people in voting were under the impression they were electing officials for a two years' term in office, if we except that of School Superintendent and Assessor. A test case will shortly be made before the Supreme Court to decide the matter.

THE SUPERVISORS.

What Was Done at Last Saturday's Meeting.

The Board of Supervisors met at 9 o'clock Saturday morning pursuant to adjournment.

In the matter of changing the channel of Sonoma Creek near the Home for Feeble-Minded Children, a sum not to exceed $125 was appropriated for the construction of a dam and changing the channel of the creek.

A warrant of $550 was ordered drawn in favor of J. W. Swank for the construction of a pier under the bridge across Russian river at Preston, near Cloverdale, the committee, consisting of Supervisors E. S. Gray and Jacob Joost, who were appointed to examine the work, having reported favorably of the work done and that it was as the contract called for.

A demand having been made of the County Treasurer upon the fund of the estate of deceased persons for $266 by the P. Ryan estate and as the fund was left destitute at the time of the robbery of the county treasury, an order was made transferring $266 from the general fund to the estate of deceased persons.

The bill of P. R. Davis came up for consideration. It was for $1,900, in payment for completed township maps. B. S. Woods appeared before the Board and protested against the payment on the ground that the maps did not conform with the contract. Among other objections he said the westerly line of the Petaluma ranch was not correct and the southern boundary of the Huichica ranch was not given; that the area and numbers of irregular subdivisions of government surveys was not given on the map, and that the location of State subdivisions is not shown. The matter was taken under advisement, and will probably come up again for consideration on Wednesday.

The bill of E. S. Gray, roadmaster of Washington road district for $208.60 was allowed.

The Board adjourned Saturday afternoon.

Fatal Accident,

James McHenry, a prominent horseman, living near Petaluma, met with an accident Monday morning that resulted in his death a few hours later. He was driving a very high spirited young horse. He touched the animal with his whip which caused it to rear up and then fall back on the driver and the sulky. Mr. McHenry was crushed beneath the animal and when extricated from his perilous position it was found that he had sustained very serious injuries. His skull had been fractured and he was injured in other ways.

Santa Rosa Bank vs. Flint—Reset for January 9th.

When the Chill Mists of the Morning

hang like a pall over the surface of the earth, it will be well for you before venturing into the raw vaporous air, charged, perhaps, with the seeds of malaria or provocative of rheumatic twinges, to take a wineglassful of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and thus shield yourself from atmospheric influences threatening to health. If you happen to get snowed, sleeted or rained upon, use the same preventive, and avoid the rheumatism or a dangerous cold. The agreeable warmth infused into the circulation by this genial stomachic, its invigorating and regulating properties commend it to all appreciative of the fact that prevention is better than cure. Use the Bitters for dyspepsia, biliousness, nervousness and kidney trouble, sick headache and debility.

Shiloh's cure is sold on a guarantee. It cures incipient consumption. It is the best cough cure Only one cent a dose. 25c., 50c., and $1.00.

If you want the very best of wine, liquors or cigars go to the Sonoma House, and you will be politely served by Mr. Chas. Stein *

Mr. A. H. Gransby, of No. 158 Kerr St., Memphis, Tenn., writes that his wife had cancer which had eaten two large holes in her breast, and which the best physicians of the surrounding country treated, and pronounced incurable. Her grandmother and aunt had died of and when told this, the most eminent specialists of New York, under whose treatment she was placed, declared her case was hopeless. All treatment having failed, she was given up to die S. S. S. was recommended, and astonishing as it may seem, a few bottles cured her sound and well.

Agostine Arbenghi, arrested for battery on complaint of M. La Franchi, one day last week, was tried by Judge Cheney last Tuesday and found guilty. The defendant was fined $40, which he paid. The cases against P. Albertoni, C. Rotto, C. Togni, A. Berretto, F. Ceronetti, M. La Franchi and F. Pezzaglia were dismissed.

Dennis McCarthy, the convicted murderer, has been sentenced to death by Judge Crawford. The execution will take place in San Quentin Prison on January 31st next.

Mrs. Nancy Drake Scudder, mother of Justice N. W. Scudder of Petaluma, died Saturday morning at the residence of Justice Scudder, age eighty-one years. She was a native of New York. In anticipation of a posoible decision of the courts that the new law, making the term of county officers four years instead of two, is invalid, County Clerk Fulton has filed bills with the Supervisors according to law, says the Santa Rosa Republican. One bill is for 75 per cent of the fees collected and deposited with the Treasurer from January 7th to November 1st. It is for $3,066.41. The other is for $250 for services as Clerk of the Board of Supervisors. The bills have been endorsed on the face of them "held for future consideration." It seems to be the general impression in sourthouse circles that there will be another election next fall of officers whose terms were changed by the new law.

Two Buggies Collide in the Dark.

On Sunday night last as Chas. Cheney was returning to town from Agua Caliente in his light buggy, the night being a very dark one, he suddenly collided with another buggy in which were seated Frank Quartaroli and F. Rovai, who were going in an opposite direction. The accident took place in front of the Maxwell place. The force of the collision was so great as to throw young Cheney out of his buggy, which was overturned, but he fortunately escaped injury. The mare which he was driving, being a spirited animal, finding herself without a guarding hand dashed madly forward and righting the buggy by running into a rock fence was soon lost to sight in the darkness. The next morning she was found several miles from the scene of the accident. The mare was still attached to the buggy, which was badly wrecked. The other buggy was also more or less damaged by the collision.

Lachman vs. Steiger.

On Tuesday last the civil suit of Lachman vs. Steiger came up for a hearing before Judge Crawford in Santa Rosa, on an appeal from Justice Cheney's court in this place. The suit was instituted by Mrs. Mary J. Lachman to recover $299 damages from Edward Steiger for alleged injuries sustained in a squabble over rent money which the plaintiff refused to pay the defendant. This episode cost Mr. Steiger $40 hard cash in the shape of a fine imposed on him by Judge Cheney, and he didn't get his rent money either. Then the suit for damages was commenced and as above stated judgment was given in favor of Steiger. T. J. Butts represented the plaintiff and Fred'k T. Duhring the defendant. Judge Crawford, after hearing the evidence in the case and argument of counsel, withheld his decison for a few days.

The College Building Lease Invalid.

District Attorney Seawell in a written opinion to Fred'k T. Duhring, Clerk of the Sonoma Valley Union High School, says that the leasing of the college building by the old High School Board for a term of ten years is clearly illegal and must not be recognized. This will be good news to the tax-payers of Sonoma Township, who would have been compelled to pay $2000 for the building and then not own it in the end, and this too, in the face of the fact that the old concern has been offered outright for $1500. The District Attorney in intrepreting the law in the matter of this lease sustains the opinion of the INDEX-TRIBUNE as expressed in these columns several months ago.

Thanksgiving Eve Ball.

The members of the Young Mens' Institute are bestirring themselves in anticipation of their coming ball at Union Hall on Thanksgiving eve. Music will be furnished by Parks' orchestra of Santa Rosa, handsome dance programmes will be given all who attend, and the floor managers will see to it that all present will have a pleasant time. An excellent turkey supper will also be spread before the guests by mine host Enke of the Union Hotel.

Tokay Grapes and the Chicago Market.

Jas. H. Shaw of South Los Guilcos has just received returns from his recent shipment of Tokays to Chicago. The grapes, which were exceptionally fine ones, sold for $2.50@$3.00 per crate of forty pounds. In other words he received between $125 and $150 per ton for his crop of table grapes. Verily, grapes are grapes this year.

Last Saturday evening after following "Dook Malboro's" guidance in toilet affairs as far as their means would allow, a party of four gentlemen, employees of the Home, wended their way to Schellville, where waves of dance music could be heard floating out on the chill night air. These gentlemen had gone there with no intention of marring the pleasures of anyone and only thought of having a high old time, and a high one they had, too, if rumors are correct, but at the price of winning the affections of some-one-else's ladies, from all accounts, for on the following day these some-one-else's went quail hunting and shot some "geese."

REMINGTON.

Glen Ellen, Nov. 14th, 1895.

They Were Easy Game.

Superior Judge Dougherty has been holding court in San Francisco in Judge Daingerfield's place the past week. Apropos of the Judge's sojourn in the metropolis the Evening Post publishes the following, which should be accepted as the truth and nothing else but the truth with many grains of allowance:

"I was hunting quail in a big vineyard near Santa Rosa a few days ago," remarked Superior Judge Dougherty of Sonoma county, "and I got the finest bag of birds I ever shot in my life. When I first went into the vineyard I thought I was shooting at tame quail, for they wouldn't fly till I came near stepping on them, and then they would wobble off through the air in the most erratic way. They would only fly a short distance till they would drop into a grape vine as if their wings had given out.

"My dog kept bringing me live quail, which I thought I had wounded, but finally when I had three dozen birds and had fired only about a dozen shots I knew there was something wrong somewhere.

"Finally I came upon a quail lying on its back and kicking its feet in the air in the most peculiar way. I picked it up and found it uninjured so far as I could see. Then I set it on its legs and it went staggering and floundering over the clods a few feet till it fell on its back again and lay kicking helplessly.

"For the first time it occurred to me that the quail were drunk. They had been feeding on the frost-bitten grapes that had fermented on the vines and were enjoying the wildest kind of a jag. Some could not move, while the soberest couldn't fly fast enough to get out of the way of a clod."

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal.

Items of a personal and social nature are thankfully received at this office and will be edited by Marjorie Dow.

J. E. Kearney returned home Sunday evening from a week's visit in the metropolis.

Veils are being largely worn and are voluminous. The close, small veil seems to be quite abandoned for the present.

Miss Cora Perkins has returned home after a protracted stay in San Francisco.

Miss Maggie Stevenot, who is learning stenography in San Francisco, visited her parents in this place several days this week.

Thos. Monahan visited his old Sonoma home last Sunday.

The Marie Antoinette fichu is seen on new gowns as well as those of the season of warm weather now past. The fichu is not common, however, having a rival in the more generally becoming shoulder collar which has been and is universally worn.

Ralph Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Morris, was over from Petaluma visiting his parents last Sunday.

Where the hair is dry and brittle, with a tendency to fall out, an English restorative is the simple one of a free application of pure cocoanut oil with daily brushing. This treatment continued for a few weeks—six, perhaps—will, it is said, accomplish the best results.

Miss Carrie Drahms, daughter of Chaplain Drahms of San Quentin, is visiting Miss Flora Vollmar of Schellville.

J. P. McDonell, publisher of the Sebastopol Times, visited Sonoma friends Sunday.

Mrs. Eunice Russ Davis, the only surviving member of the Womens' Anti-Slave Board of Boston, and the oldest woman abolitionist in the United States, observed her ninety-fifth birthday anniversary at her home in Denham, Mass., last week. Her father was a white man and her mother a full-blooded Narragansett Indian.

Chessie Smith of San Francisco visited Sonoma friends Sunday.

The venerable Wm. Pickett, for many years a resident of this place, left last Saturday afternoon for San Francisco. He was accompanied by his granddaughter, Mrs. Chas. E. Bowen, with whom in future he will make his home.

Though every old man has been young, and every young man hopes to be old, there seems to be a most unnatural misunderstanding between the two stages of life. The unhappy want of commerce arises from arrogance or exultation in youth, and irrational despondence or self-pity in age.—Steele.

Dr. H. H. Davis was called to Santa Rosa last Tuesday to testify in the damage suit of Lachman vs. Steiger.

Fred'k. T. Duhring had legal business at the County Seat last Tuesday.

The Magna Charta was written with ordinary black ink on very heavy parchment. It is a curious fact, as stated by an eminent English historian, that of all the Barons who signed that most important document, not one could write other than his signature, and only two were able to write even that.

John Lutgens, father of Henry Lutgens of this place, and one of the early settlers in Sonoma Valley, was banqueted in San Francisco on the 1st inst. by the officers of the German Benevolent Society, of which he is collector. The old gentleman was also elected an honorary member of the society, of which he was one of the founders. On the evening of the same day a family reunion was also held at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. R. E. Whitefield. Mr. Lutgens, notwithstanding he has passed the allotted three-score-years-and-ten, with another ten years added on, is as hale and hearty as a man of forty.

The pretty flower garden and lawn of V. Bulotti on Napa street shows what a little time and cultivation will do towards making home attractive.

Miss Eugene Burgess and her friend, Miss Florence Garrosay of the metropolis are up on a visit at the Burgess place.

Al. Estes, formerly of this place, has established himself in the job printing business in San Francisco.

Mrs. R. G. Steele of Merced, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Norman T Callaway of 1021 Van Ness avenue, San Francisco, for the past two weeks, is now in Sonoma visiting H. H. Granice and family.

The handsome residence of Dr. H. H. Davis on Broadway is being newly painted.

B. P. Norris was a passenger on the south-bound Donahue train last Tuesday.

Miss Teresa Fochetti visited friends in San Francisco Tuesday.

Jas. Ruffner, Sonoma's news dealer, visited the metropolis last Tuesday.

Hon. Robt. Howe was a visitor to the metropolis last Tuesday.

Geo. Breitenbach, Sonoma's popular harness dealer, went to San Francisco last Tuesday to purchase a new stock of goods.

Feather trimming around the edge of hats is revived and forms a most becoming finish to most faces. Pompadour ribbon of various tones is much employed for trimming as are also ostrich plumes, usually grouped in threes in the Prince of Wales fashion. All millinery ribbons are broad, and trimming is largely arranged at the sides of bonnets and hats to give a wide effect.

A merry company assembled last Saturday evening in response to the invitations extended by Mr. and Mrs. L. Emery to a limited number of their friends. The festivities, consisting of dancing and vocal and instrumental music, commenced at about eight o'clock and continued until near midnight. The music for dancing was furnished by Mr. J. Emery, who is a fine performer on the violin. The most notable vocal selection of the evening was a duet by Miss Lizzie C. Terry and George H. Cassidy. At midnight an excellent supper was served after which the guests took their departure highly pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Dark blue and dark green in combination are seen on winter hats, a companionship probably revived by the plaids now so fashionable, blue and green being a standard coloring in that line of goods. Velvet, satin and moire covered hats are shown in the new shapes, and even hats of undressed kid. Silk, beaver, plaited, chenille and felt and metallic braids will also be worn, and the trimmings will consist of fur, lace, velvet, flowers, feathers and paste and metallic ornaments. Jet is well represented in the millinery department, usually combined with black spangles.

Mrs. Willie Cook is up from her city home visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Akers of Schellville.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, NOV. 16, 1895.

A POLAR NIGHT.

Graphic Description of This Time of Gloom and Desolation.

Mr. Constantin Nossiloff, reporting in Le Tour du Monde his scientific researches in Nova Zembla, furnishes an interesting description of his sensations and experiences during the long arctic night, which began Nov. 8 and ended Jan. 20.

September was pretty comfortable, he says. Then suddenly snow covered the mountains. The Samoyedes, his only companions, put on their winter clothing, the fishing boats set sail for Archangel, the ground froze, the sun lost its warmth and heavy snows fell. Winter had come in earnest.

On the day when the sun showed itself for the last time all hands went out of doors to bid it farewell. It remained in sight for half an hour only.

For a few days longer there was a morning twilight. Then this faded and gave place to black night. The stars shone the whole 24 hours. The huts of the colony were buried under the snow, of which thick whirlwinds filled the air. The wind shook the huts to their foundations. Sometimes for days together the inmates of the different huts could hold no communication with each other, though the huts were side by side.

If any one went out, he was seized by the wind and had to be dragged back by means of ropes.

In this darkness and desolation the aurora borealis did much to entertain and cheer them. It lasted sometimes for five days in succession, with splendors of color that Mr. Nossiloff tries in vain to describe. To enjoy the spectacle he used to remain for hours in a hole in the snow, sheltered from the wind,

"I have never seen anything more terrible than a tempest during the polar night," says Mr. Nossiloff. "Man feels himself overwhelmed in immensity."

When there came a lull in the storm, the men ventured out to breathe the air and purge their lungs of the exhalations of the smoking lamps fed with seal oil.

Twilight appeared again in the middle of January, and on the 20th the sun rose above the horizon, while the members of the little colony stood in line facing it and fired a salute. No one had died or been seriously ill, but all had the look of corpses and were feeble as convalescents after a long sickness. Health returned with the appearance of the sun.—Youth's Companion.

A Bird's Revenge.

A lady who was one day watching a pair of redstarts as they worked in a tree was startled by a violent commotion that arose in the shrubbery hard by. Catbirds screamed, wrens scolded and the robins shouted "Quick!" with all their might. A chipmunk was dragging a baby catbird by the leg from its nest and all the birds round about had come to help make a row about it, including a Baltimore oriole. The screaming and the swish of wings as the birds darted about made the squirrel abandon its prey and then the commotion subsided as quickly as it had risen. All the birds but the oriole went about their business elsewhere. The oriole had not said a word so far, and beyond the countenancing the hubbub by his presence had had no part in it.

The squirrel, having dropped the baby catbird, cocked itself upon a limb and began to chatter in a defiant way, while the oriole sat not far away looking at it, but doing nothing else. But in a few moments the squirrel left its seat and ran out on the limb it had been sitting on until it had to use care to keep its hold, and then the oriole's opportunity for a terrible assault had come. Flashing across the space he struck the chipmunk in one eye with his sharp pointed beak, and then turning instantly struck the other eye in a like manner. Quivering with pain, the squirrel let go the limb and dropped to the ground, where it rolled and struggled about apparently in the throes of death. The oriole flew away to his favorite elm, where he sang in his most brilliant fashion. The lady put the squirrel out of its misery and then saw that the oriole had destroyed both eyes.—Chicago Record.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

Chameleon Spiders.

An interesting instance of color mimicry in spiders has been observed in the south of France. The spiders of that region when in search of prey hide in the convolvulus flowers. It has been noticed that a white variety of spiders frequented the white flowers, a greenish colored variety made the green flowers his home, and a pink one lived principally in the pink flowers. The colors of the three varieties were at first supposed to be permanent, but it has recently been discovered that the color of any one of these spiders changes within a few days if the insect be placed in the convolvulus of a different colored flower from that which he has been using as his home. Four spiders—pink, white, green and yellow in color—were all put in a box together, and within three days all were white.

She Controls a Newspaper.

Under the able management of Mrs. Marie Louise Myrick the Americus Times-Recorder continues doing magnificent work. It is a fact not generally known to the public that last January Captain Myrick turned over to his wife the editorial management of The Times-Recorder, devoting his time to the business of the paper. Since that time she has managed the editorial department, superintended the local, and, in fact, had absolute editorial control. The Times-Recorder is unquestionably one of the brightest and best of Georgia's dailies and is always found on the side of the people.—Atlanta Constitution.

"It has not only saved us lots of worry and time," she says, "but also doctor bills. It is my opinion that every family should have a bottle of this remedy in the house." For sale by all dealers.
